Your idea is what counts

You have an idea and only need the right support?

No matter in which stage your project is, you will find a competent partner at BYTEC.

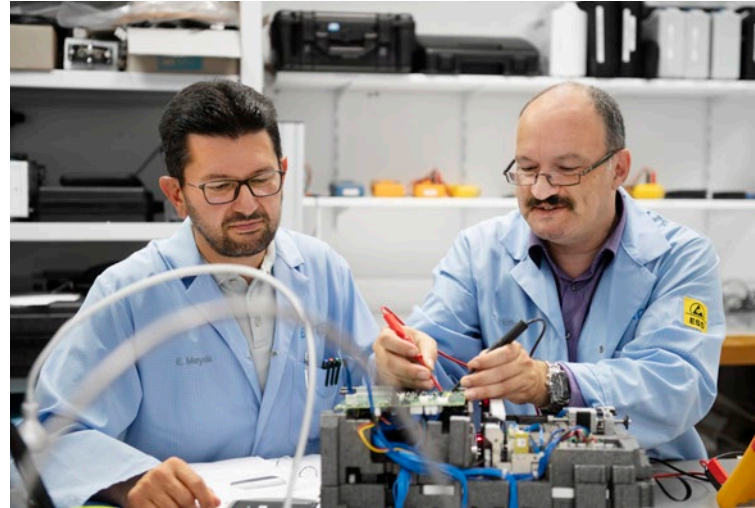

Our core competence is the efficient contract development and production of technically advancing or high-risk medical devices in the areas of diagnostics, surgery and therapy.

We support you as a certified service provider for CE marking, FDA approval and the fulfillment of the requirements of the EU's Medical Device Regulation (MDR).

And even during series production, we ensure that your product is the best solution for your customers – by continuing to develop it with you, updating the software, providing on-site service worldwide as well as long-term spare parts logistics.

Together to market success

Technical progress needs good and innovative ideas.

Development

Take advantage of our profound expertise and enthusiasm for medical technology. Together with you, we work out the optimal specifications, create a requirement-oriented design and develop your project in time to market.

Let's talk.
